In 2017 Ash Wednesday was on 1 March; in 2018 Ash Wednesday was on 14 February, also known as Valentine's Day. What a difference a year makes, so by the time you get this newsletter, we are well into our Lenten season. Originally, the Lenten season was a time of preparation for baptisms at the great vigil of Easter. We at All Saints have continued this tradition by growing our faith through Thursday evening suppers & study. This year we are reviewing the Baptismal Covenant promise as found on pages 304 & 305 of the Book of Common Prayer & at the Great Vigil & throughout the Easter season we will joyfully proclaim our faith using the Baptismal Covenant.

However, the somber days of Lent remind us that the Easter triumph came at a cost. Jesus was hounded by his critics; Jesus was betrayed by one of his disciples; Jesus was denied by another disciple; Jesus was abandoned by all the disciples; & then he was flogged, marched up a hill, stripped, & executed. This was the cost of our God coming among us to show us the Way, the Truth, & the Life of Faith. Even in the midst of counting the cost, we know the ultimate victory of Easter; we know the Love of God will not be denied; today, tomorrow, & forever.

Thanks be to God.

The mission of All Saints Episcopal Church is to enrich and transform through worship, education, service, generosity and caring conversation.

Letter to the Episcopal Church from Presiding Bishop, President of House of Deputies

'Our church must examine its history and come to a fuller understanding of how it has handled or mishandled cases of sexual harassment, exploitation and abuse through the years'

Dear People of God in the Episcopal Church:

In recent weeks, compelling testimony from women who have been sexually harassed and assaulted by powerful men has turned our minds to a particularly difficult passage of holy scripture: the story of the rape of King David's daughter Tamar by her half-brother Amnon (2 Samuel 13: 1-22). It is a passage in which a conspiracy of men plots the exploitation and rape of a young woman. She is stripped of the power to speak or act, her father ignores the crime, and the fate of the rapist, not the victim, is mourned. It is a Bible story devoid of justice.

For more than two decades, African women from marginalized communities have studied this passage of scripture using a method called contextual Bible study to explore and speak about the trauma of sexual assault in their own lives. Using a manual published by the Tamar Campaign, they ask, "What can the Church do to break the silence against gender-based violence?"

It is, as the old-time preachers say, a convicting question. As our societies have been forced into fresh recognition that women in all walks of life have suffered unspoken trauma at the hands of male aggressors and harassers, we have become convinced that the Episcopal Church must work even harder to create a church that is not simply safe, but holy, humane and decent. We must commit to treating every person as a child of God, deserving of dignity and respect. We must also commit to ending the systemic sexism, misogyny and misuse of power that plague the church just as they corrupt our culture, institutions and governments.

Like our African siblings in faith, we must create contexts in which women can speak of their unspoken trauma, whether suffered within the church or elsewhere. And we must do more.

Our church must examine its history and come to a fuller understanding of how it has handled or mishandled cases of sexual harassment, exploitation and abuse through the years. When facts dictate, we must confess and repent of those times when the church, its ministers or its members have been antagonistic or unresponsive to people—women, children and men—who have been sexually exploited or abused. And we must acknowledge that in our church and in our culture, the sexual exploitation of women is part of the same unjust system that also causes gender gaps in pay, promotion, health and empowerment.

We believe that each of us has a role to play in our collective repentance. And so, today, we invite you to join us in an Ash Wednesday Day of Prayer on February 14 devoted to meditating on the ways in which we in the church have failed to stand with women and other victims of abuse and harassment and to consider, as part of our Lenten disciplines, how we can redouble our work to be communities of safety that stand against the spiritual and physical violence of sexual exploitation and abuse.

Neither of us professes to have all of the wisdom necessary to change the culture of our church and the society in which it ministers, and at this summer's General Convention, we want to hear the voice of the wider church as we determine how to proceed in both atoning for the church's past and shaping a more just future. May we find in our deliberations opportunities to listen to one another, to be honest about our own failings and brokenness, and to discern prayerfully the ways that God is calling us to stand with Tamar in all of the places we find her—both inside the church and beyond our doors, which we have too often used to shut her out.

Faithfully,

The Most Rev. Michael B. Curry
Presiding Bishop

The Rev. Gay Clark Jennings
President, House of Deputies did you know?

1. Why are there no altar flowers during Lent?

Lent is a penitential season, and flowers are usually associated with rejoicing. For this reason the altar is bare, and we use none of the usual symbols of rejoicing, such as singing “Alleluia.” Even though Sunday is never a fast day, in order to encourage the Lenten discipline we make Sunday services more somber during Lent.

2. Why do we talk about the forty days of Lent, when there are actually forty-six days by the calendar?

Sunday is always a feast day, even during Lent. Being the commemoration of the Resurrection, it can never be a fast day. It is sometimes called a “little Easter.” Discounting the six Sundays, Lent is forty days long.

3. What is Maundy Thursday?

This is the day of the commemoration of the Last Supper, the first Holy Eucharist. At the Last Supper, Jesus washed the feet of the Apostles and gave them “a new Commandment, that you love one another.” The term “Maundy” comes from the Middle English maunde, “foot-washing.” This comes from the Old French mande, “commandment,” referring to the commandment that he gave them after washing their feet.

4. Why is the day of Jesus’ death called Good Friday?

For all the horror of the Crucifixion, the day is nevertheless good for us, because by the death of Jesus we are freed from the bondage of sin. The name of the day, however, is actually a corruption of the Middle English Godes Fridai, “God’s Friday.”

5. What does “Paschal” mean?

“Paschal” (pron. pas-kal) stems from the Hebrew pesach, “Passover,” and is the adjective for both Passover and Easter. Jesus died and was resurrected at the time of the Passover. His sacrifice on the cross is closely associated with the sacrifice that the Jewish Law commanded at Passover.

6. Why does the date of Easter vary?

The ancient church calendar, like the Jewish one, was based on the phases of the moon. The date of Easter is tied to the full moon at the time of the Vernal Equinox. It was argued for centuries as to whether it should be the full moon nearest, or first after the equinox, and whether it should be the Sunday nearest or after.

7. Where does the Word “Easter” come from?

This word actually has pagan origins. It is a corruption of Oestra, an ancient Celtic goddess of sex and fertility (comparable to the Roman Venus or Greek Aphrodite), whose festival was celebrated in the spring. Oestra stemmed from the Middle Eastern fertility goddess Ishtar or Ashtoreth. As Judaism arose it replaced this pagan spring festival of Ashtoreth with the celebration of the Passover. When Christianity came to Britain, the Paschal feast overtook the worship of Oestra, but the name remained and eventually evolved into “Easter.”

8. And what about eggs?

The egg is an emblem of Oestra, Ishtar, and Ashtoreth, but nonetheless has a distinctly Christian symbolism as well. It is a very ancient pagan symbol of spring, representing the re-birth of the earth from a seemingly dead “stone.” To Christians, however, the chick emerging from the egg is symbolic of Christ emerging from the tomb. Early Christians would cut off the end of an egg and remove the contents, leaving the empty shell as a symbol of the empty tomb. It is obvious that such a joyful symbol should be gaily decorated, and by the Middle Ages, Easter egg decoration had become a fine art form in many Mediterranean regions. By the time Faberge wrought his magnificent jeweled eggs, the religious significance of them had been all but forgotten (although Tsar Nicholas gave a Faberge egg to the Empress Alexandra every year at Easter).

Stations of the Cross Fridays at Noon

Stations of the Cross started on Friday, 16 February and will be said at noon every Friday during Lent. This service is about thirty minutes in length and consists of prayers and readings at each of the Stations of the Cross, which are on the walls of the nave of the church. These represent the Passion of our Lord leading up to the crucifixion and burial in the tomb. Barton Ryan will be leading this service each Friday up to Holy Week. MARTHA'S TABLE

Our mission is "to provide a wholesome, well prepared meal, at no cost, a safe social outlet and venue for companionship to all people who come."

Hopefully the snow is done for the year. This is the first winter we have had to cancel two meals in one year. We have only canceled two other times since Martha's Table began.

The second week of the month we are picking up meat from the Mifflinburg Weis Store as part of the Central Pa Food Bank. Some of it we use for our meals. What we don't want for a meal we have been distributing to our patrons by drawing numbers or sharing it with Meals for Seals.

Since we have a surplus of food, we have taken a leave of absence from the Department of Agriculture distribution program.

An Update from Megan McDermott

Hello All Saints'!

It's hard for me to believe—things are certainly moving along quickly!—but I'm in my final semester at Yale Divinity School. In February, I became a candidate for Holy Orders after interviewing with the diocese's Standing Committee. This means I am one-step closer towards ordination. Though I have loved my time in graduate school, I am very excited to enter more fully into ministry. I will be sure to keep you updated, both on what position I end up taking and on when my ordination will be.

I am trying to make the most of my last semester by enjoying times with my classmates and friends, treasuring our daily services of Morning Prayer followed by lengthy coffee hour chats, and taking courses that feed my spirit. I have also been spending a lot of time writing poetry. I recently had a poem published in the Rock & Sling literary journal about the biblical figure of Orpah from the book of Ruth. In other exciting news, in March, I will be going with my Episcopal classmates to Canterbury, England for a pilgrimage. In June, after my graduation, I will be going on a trip with Yale's Institute of Sacred Music to Spain and then will be taking a personal vacation to Belgium. I feel privileged to be able to get to do this travel! And, overall, I feel privileged to have so many wonderful things coming together in my life, in terms of moving forward in ministry.

Second Sunday at Six

11 March: Jay Smar, guitar, banjo, & fiddle

In the last 5 years, Jay Smar has toured Scotland twice, received recognition from the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, performed at the Philadelphia Folk Festival twice, recorded music for the Welsh BBC movie, "The Welsh in America" and has been selected by the Pennsylvania Performing Arts on Tour to be on their professional touring roster.

Armed with 2 guitars, baritone vocals, claw-hammer banjo, and fiddling, singing, and flat-footin ' (a form of clog-dancing), he serves his audience an "acoustic buffet" of traditional American and original folk, ol time mountain music, bluegrass and gospel tunes, as well as coal mining songs of Northeast Pennsylvania preceded by their origin.

Original and "covered" guitar instrumentals garnish this plate of cultural cuisine.

Music for Meditation is made possible by your generosity & the Rachel Klingensmith Music Fund. If you would like to sponsor a guest musician, please let us know. Your gift will be greatly appreciated.

Meals for Seals

Hello & Happy New Year! I'm wondering if you or someone you know made a resolution to be more involved in the community or give more volunteer time in 2018? Maybe you are already involved, but you would like something your children can do as well. I may have a solution! Did you know that Meals 4 Seals is currently serving more than 130 children in the Selinsgrove School district? Would you be surprised to know that high school students are willing to participate in the program? I'll bet you would even find it shocking to hear people in our community say that they don't know what they would do without the help of our once a month handouts and weekly school distributions.

As we turn the page to a new year we are seeing an increase in numbers almost weekly. If helping children in our community to assure they have food security is of interest to you or if you are already involved please mark your calendars and come to our monthly packing parties! Packing parties are held the third Monday of every month (except December). They occur at All Saints Episcopal Church, Market Street, Selinsgrove (home of Martha's Table). Packing typically takes one hour and begins at 7 p.m. Those without young children can arrive earlier (anytime after 6 p.m.) to help with prep work. Beginning at 7 p.m., parents with children can assist a youngster as you work side-by-side. You are given a bag to place an item in and pass on to the next person while you stand stationary at your space at the table.

Additionally, I want to mention other ideas: we have had scouting programs host a packing party as a badge opportunity, youth groups have participated in a "private" packing party, and we have had youth who chose to have their friends organize a packing party and donate food items used in our food kits in lieu of birthday presents and in place of having a birthday party. The schools, local businesses, and churches in the area have been terrific at conducting their own food drives to aide in helping.

Sincerely,
Lori M. Weir, Meals 4 Seals
